

ConsulTeam is a Turkey based consultancy company, which provides services to medical device manufacturers and distributors. Since 2003, the company is providing quality management system consultancy, training and internal audit services with an expert team. Many of the projects include CE Marking of various medical devices according to the European directives. The team has also a wide expertise and knowledge about Turkish regulations, which is available for international manufacturers intended to put their products in the growing Turkish medical market. For detailed information please contact Mr. Osman Dursun at odursun@consul-team.com